Discovery Reply™ Multimedia Catalogue extends and complements Discovery™ Reply Multimedia content documentation and browsing capability with advanced tools for analytical documentation, linking, aggregation cataloguing and navigation of very large media archives.

Discovery Reply™ Multimedia Catalogue is the ideal solution for multimedia archives such the one present in national broadcasters, public and private television networks, large corporations, public libraries and advertising agencies.

Fully integrated into the Discovery Reply™ suite, Discovery Reply™ Multimedia Catalogue makes archive material more traceable and reusable.

USER INTERFACE SNAPSHOTS

The image displays several overlapping screenshots of the Discovery Reply Multimedia Catalogue user interface. The primary screenshot shows a search results page with a left-hand navigation pane containing categories like 'Public' (Anniversaries, 10 years, 20 years, Biography, Events, Music, On Air, Radio, TV, Video) and 'Private' (To be Classified, All series, Episode, my services, working, History, Clipboard, Trashcan). The main area features a list of search results with columns for 'Order by', 'Title', and 'Desc'. A circular inset provides a magnified view of a video thumbnail grid. Another inset shows a detailed search criteria form with fields for 'nome', 'ruolo', 'qualifica', 'strumenti', 'voce', 'personaggio', 'parla', and 'visibile'. At the bottom, there is a section for 'Restrictions' containing an SQL query: `SELECT asset_id, title FROM CMM_EDE_VIDEO_ARCHIVE_V WHERE CONTAINS(CMM_EDE_VIDEO_ARCHIVE_V, credits, ?) & (ID AND CMM_EDE_AUDIO_EMISSION_V, emission_date < ? AND CONTAINS(CMM_SEQUENCE_V, theme_ref, ?) > 0 ORDER BY CMM_EDE_VIDEO_ARCHIVE_V, title ASC`. Below the query, there are options for 'Summary Columns' (Titolo, Descrizione), 'Sort By' (Titolo, Desc), and 'Query Folder name' (Lirica Music).
